The International School of Hospitality Wins Wedding Award

Las Vegas, December 12, 2011 –The International School of Hospitality (TISOH), a continuing-education school developed by the hospitality industry for industry, received the prestigious award “Shaping the Future Generation of Wedding Professionals” at the 2011 Las Vegas Wedding Awards held at the Stirling Club, Las Vegas on Tuesday of this week. Las Vegas Bride and Beautiful Bride magazines sponsored the awards event which honors the best in the wedding industry. The editors recognized TISOH for its innovative and engaging Wedding Design & Coordination education programs.

“We’re very pleased to be acknowledged by the wedding industry for the quality of our wedding education programs,” commented Timothy Lam, Director of TISOH. “This award was earned by our terrific team of instructors and our various venue support locations.”

The educational experience at The International School of Hospitality seamlessly combines learning from credentialed industry professionals with practical opportunities to present integrated training in the hospitality capital of the world, Las Vegas. With top hotel properties participating in the programs via guest speakers and site visit sponsorships, students enjoy networking events, shows, receptions and more. TISOH’s Wedding & Design Coordination curriculum offers both certificate and diploma programs in class and online. Students learn to plan, design, manage, coordinate and execute all manners of traditional, non-traditional, cultural, fantasy and destination weddings. They learn industry best practices and the role of a wedding planner. To complete the program, students professionally design and plan a complete wedding presentation from start to finish, completing a professional portfolio that serves as a sample of their learning and ability. Externships are also a part of the program, giving students hands-on experience.

About TISOH

The International School of Hospitality (TISOH) was founded in 2005 by professors from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. The mission of the school is to offer practical, short-term hospitality training programs developed for industry by industry. Along with class instruction, most courses include site visits and working externships. The school curriculum includes conference management and event planning, meeting & event catering, event design & production, hospitality leadership and supervision, wedding coordination and design, the art of concierge, art of food and beverage, hotel operations and hospitality human resources. Students may elect to study on site or enroll in TISOH's online courses. The school is an Academic Partner of the American Hotel & Lodging Educational Institute.

The TISOH's campus is conveniently located close to McCarran International Airport at 3614 E. Sunset Road, Suite 110. TISOH offers certificate and executive diploma programs that run in the evenings for 12 weeks, in FASTtrack format for 5 weeks, and online learning with rolling admissions.
