Las Vegas, NV (PRWEB) July 15, 2005 -- Hospitality Experts Consortium, LLC is pleased to announce the founding of The International School of Hospitality (TISOH). Licensed by the Nevada Commission on Postsecondary Education, TISOH is dedicated to training individuals for careers in hospitality-related industries.

TISOH fills a niche in hospitality education by offering short, career specific courses for new entrants to the industry as well as for established veterans to hone their skills. All courses are crafted and taught by instructors who have a combination of academic expertise and industry knowledge.

Initially, the School will launch a Meeting Planning Certificate and an Event Management Certificate program in October 2005. Both programs will be of a hybrid nature, with classroom as well as web-based online instruction. In 2006, both programs will be offered separately as online courses as well as in hybrid form. Additionally, the School will present offerings in front desk management, housekeeping supervision, concierge services, beverage management, purchasing & procurement and others. With the programs being online, TISOH courses will be available around the globe.

As the School's instructors are all professionals with specific expertise, TISOH will also offer seminars and courses addressing current issues in hospitality. Custom training will be available.

The International School of Hospitality will operate from a custom-designed training facility in Las Vegas currently under construction. The School's online presence is located at www.tisoh.com
